APPALLING LOSS FROM VOLCANIC ERUPTION

Paris, France, May 9.—A rain of fire has destroyed St. Pierre, Martinique, and 25,000 souls perished as a result of an appalling volcanic catastrophe which destroyed the flourishing city.

The commander of the fort cruiser Suchet has telegraphed the minister of the marines, M. Delanesean, from Port de France, Island of Martinique, under date of Thursday, May 8, 10

p. m. as follows: "Have just returned from St. Pierre, which has been completely destroyed by an immense mass of fire, which fell on the town about 8 o'clock in the morning. The entire population of about 25,000 souls are supposed to have perished. Have brought back few survivors, about thirty in all. The shipping in the harbor has been destroyed by the fire, and the eruption continues."

A DARK TRAGEDY ALL HANDS ARE BUSY

Paul Leicester Ford Killed in New York by His Brother Walcolm.

The Murderer Then Took His Own Life—The Exact Cause of the Tragedy is Unknown.

REGRET OVER THE AUTHOR'S DEATH

New York May 9—Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist, was shot and killed yesterday by his brother, Malcolm Webster Ford, writer and athlete, who immediately sent a bullet into his own breast, dying instantly. The shooting occurred at 10:20 a. m. in the handsome new mansion which Paul Leicester Ford had built at 37 East Seventy-seventh street and occupied for about a year but was not reported to the police until 4:20 p. m.

At the time of the shooting there were in the house besides the two brothers, Mrs. Paul Leicester Ford, Miss Elizabeth R. Hall, the novelist's secretary, and the servants. The novelist was sitting at his desk in one corner of his library, a large, attractively appointed room at the back of the house on the second floor. It is supposed he was busily engaged at some literary task. Miss Hall was at her desk in another corner of the room, about thirty feet from Mr. Ford. Mrs. Paul Leicester Ford was in her room at the front of the house on the third floor.

Malcolm Ford called, as he had often done, and went to his brother at his desk. Words were exchanged in a tone so low that Miss Hall could not hear what was said, though she says that possibly she might have distinguished the words if she had been paying any attention to this particular meeting of the two brothers.

Suddenly there was a revolver shot, and Miss Hall, jumping up, darted from the room. Then, according to the statements of the police, Miss Hall said to herself that she must act more bravely and re-enter the library.

Meanwhile Malcolm Ford had called her. As she turned toward him he placed his revolver to his heart, fired and fell, dying instantly. When Miss Hall turned to look at Paul he was still standing at his desk, but rapidly losing strength. She helped him to a sofa and then ran next door for Paul Ford's physician, Dr. Emanuel Baruch.

In less than five minutes Dr. Baruch arrived and the dying man, still conscious, was carried up to a room beside his wife's and placed on his bed. He spoke to his wife and asked the doctor for his opinion, showing that he expected death and was going to meet it calmly and bravely. A few moments later, about twenty minutes after he was shot, Mr. Ford died.

The bullet which killed Paul Leicester Ford just grazed the top of his heart and passed through a large artery ascending from it. The bullet which killed Malcolm Ford was fired with the same accuracy of aim, for it

Carnival Grounds Rapidly Becoming Attractive Under Artists' Touch

The Deputy Marshals Have Been Appointed—Everything Now Nearly Ready.

NEWS OF THE ELKS HARD WORK

Everything is bustle and excitement at the carnival grounds at present, and by tomorrow night everything will be ready for the big show. The fences are assuming form and the various lots being prepared for the various attractions that will be on them.

This morning Grand Marshal Gus Rogers announced the appointment of the following assistants: R. G. Caldwell, Cliff Wilson, George Robertson, August Denker, Jr., Dr. Ed Gilson, Captain Ed Farley and Charles Smith.

Mr. J. Campbell Flournoy has been selected to make the welcome address to Governor Beckham on behalf of Paducah lodge of Elks. Mayor Yeiser will make the address on behalf of the city of Paducah.

Today the work of preparing tickets for the country store and sealing them in envelopes is being rushed in order to have everything ready for the opening by Monday.

Mr. David Desberger, of the Grand Leader store, has made Dean's band a present of the Elk colors to wear during the carnival. He also gave them enough ribbon to wear about their cap brims.

The band will present a neat appearance wearing their new duck uniforms and decorated with the colors of the jolly Elks.

Mr. Clarence Walker has arrived from Louisville and is preparing for the miniature railway that will be on the carnival grounds. The work of laying it begins at once.

Dr. C. E. Whitesides, past exalted ruler of Paducah Lodge of Elks, was last night presented with a fine past exalted ruler's badge by the lodge. It is a very handsome thing and Dr. Whitesides is very proud of it.

IN CONGRESS.

CONSIDERATION OF THE OMNIBUS BILL RESUMED TODAY.

Washington, May 9.—The house resumed consideration of the omnibus statehood bill immediately after reading the journal today. The pending amendment was that of Mr. Overstreet, Ind., to consolidate New Mexico and Arizona and admit them as the state of Montezuma, or such other name as the constitutional convention should select.

The president today signed the oleomargarine bill.

"Dutch Charley," who was with the home boys of Co. K in Savannah, Ga., during the Spanish-American war, is in the city again selling waffles.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Regular Session Held Last Night—City Attorney Worten is Eligible

Street Railway Ordinance Referred—Councilmen Can Get Extra Pay, Say the Aldermen.

AN ADJOURNED MEETING THIS EVENING

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen was held last night at the city hall with all the members present.

After the usual preliminaries President Noble stated that the question of whether or not City Attorney Worten was eligible to the position on account of his being vice president of the News-Democrat had been raised, but that his decision was that Mr. Worten is eligible, as he was elected under the third class charter and not the second. Under the second class charter he would not be eligible.

Attorney Worten was present and said he would sell his stock in the paper in a few days.

Mayor Yeiser suggested that the street railway franchise ordinance be referred to a committee as a section stipulating that the franchise as extended pursuant to the request of the company may be sold to no one else, is unconstitutional. President Noble said he would appoint a committee to report on it at an adjourned meeting this evening.

Chairman Boone, of the finance committee, read the bills, and stated that there was some trouble about the pay to councilmen for called meetings.
The increase in firemen's salaries was refused because they were appointed to office under the third class charter, but the council claimed pay under the second class charter.

Attorney Worten attempted to make the point that the salary was not increased under his decision, as the charter authorizes only one meeting a month, the same as before. President Noble informed him that there were two meetings provided for. There is a state law which says that the "salary" shall not be increased, and another which says the "compensation" shall not be increased.

Alderman Boone moved that the councilmen not be allowed pay for called sessions.

One alderman said he did not think the councilmen were entitled to pay but that if the attorney thought they were he would vote for it.

All voted against the motion to refuse pay except Mr. Boone.

The regular bills and payroll were allowed.

Alderman Greif wanted the matter of paying the firemen under the provisions of the second class charter referred to the mayor for an opinion, but was induced to withdraw by Mayor Yeiser, who said the firemen were privileged to bring in an appeal.

Money for saloon license was refunded Bulger and Linler, W. H.
Lott and A. J. Wintersmith, who were refused saloon license by the council.

Clerk Patterson and Auditor Kirkland reported a settlement with Former Treasurer Richardson, showing in the treasury at the time he was checked out $3,773.74.

The board was notified that A. J.
Whitesides who was refused a license at Ninth and Court streets for a saloon would appear before the board and ask a reversal of the lower board.

The board then adjourned until tonight.

DIED IN MEMPHIS.

Mrs. J. W. Hall of Trimble street was last night notified of the death of her brother, Mr. Miles Futrell of Memphis. Mr. Futrell formerly lived in Paducah, and was for several years a constable and for one or two years a police officer. He moved to Memphis about a year ago, and had since resided there. He was about thirty-five years old, and leaves a family. The remains will probably be buried there.

NEW ROAD

A Small Railroad Talked of Between Iuka and Grand Rivers.

Reported Its Use Will be to Haul Iron Ore to Furnaces.

Smithland, Ky., May 9—The report has reached here from Iuka that a stock company is being formed there and at Grand Rivers to build a railroad. The proposed road will be from near Iuka to Grand Rivers and will be about six miles in length.

The promoters of the big enterprise are Geo. W. Dixon, his brother, Syd Sexton and others. A fine bed of iron ore has been discovered on Mr. Dixon's land about two and a half miles west of the Cumberland river.

The ore is said to be of a very fine quality and is superior to that found on the Hillman Iron company's property in Lyon county.

It is understood that if the proposed railroad is built that the iron ore will be conveyed to Grand Rivers and sold to the furnace company. There has been some talk of Mr. Dixon building a furnace.

Should this railroad be built, Smith-land would have an opportunity to build one to connect with the line.

WRESTLING MATCH

NOTED PROFESSIONALS MEET TONIGHT IN COLUMBUS.

Columbus, O., May 9—The wrestling match between Doelker, the crack wrestler of the Eastern Athletic club, and Charles Reinecke, the famous Pittsburgh wrestler, which is to be decided at the Auditorium tonight, has aroused a lively interest among followers of the sport. The contest will be a handicap affair, the Pittsburg wrestler agreeing to throw Doelker three times in one hour or forfeit his share of the purse. Both have trained faithfully since the articles were signed and a hard bout is expected to be the outcome.

NORTHERN PACIFIC.

ITS NEW LINE WILL OPEN UP A RICH COUNTRY.

Seattle, Wash., May 9—The construction of the Northern Pacific's branch line into Quillayute country west of the Olympic range will open up one of the richest sections of the state of Washington. Already the region is becoming well settled and the outlook for its future could not be better. As a stock raising district the Quillayute has few equals and it is rich also in lumber and agricultural resources.

ACTIVE UNDERTAKERS.

THEY MEET IN NEW JERSEY TO FORM AN ASSOCIATION.

Trenton, N. J., May 9—At a meeting of prominent funeral directors and embalmers of New Jersey held here today preliminary steps were taken for the formation of a state association.
The object of the organization is to protect and uphold the standard of the profession, urge the enactment of such laws as will prove beneficial and provide for the examination and licensing of those qualified to practice embalming.

GEORGIA VISITORS.

VALDESTA DAY CELEBRATED AT THE CHARLESTON
EXPOSITION.

Charleston, S. C., May 9—Valdesta Day at the Charleston exposition was celebrated today by nearly a thousand visitors from the Georgia city, headed by Mayor Ashlev, members of the council and representatives of the board of trade. The visitors were welcomed on behalf of the city and the exposition. These formalities concluded, the remainder of the day was given over to the enjoyment of sightseeing.

ARBOR DAY.

CELEBRATION IN NORTH DA-KOTA CITIES, AND TREES PLANTED IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

Bismarck, N. D., May 9—In response to the proclamation of Governor White today was observed as Arbor Day throughout the state. Under the auspices of various societies trees and shrubs were planted and in the public schools exercises appropriate to the day were held. In his proclamation Governor White recommended that "an elm tree be lovingly planted and tenderly cared for on the grounds of every school and public institution of the state in honor of our martyred president, William McKinley."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

A UNION CONVENTION BEGAN TODAY IN LANCASTER.

Lancaster, Ky., May 9—Lancaster has capitulated to a host of invading Endeavorers who have come from far and near to take part in the union Christian Endeavor convention of the Eighth district, which began here today. Each of the half dozen counties embraced in the district is fully represented by delegates and visitors and a high state of enthusiasm prevails.
The program is the best ever arranged for a meeting of the kind in this part of the state, including address and papers by many prominent religious workers. The state president, F. M.
Tindon, of Carlisle, is one of the prominent participants.

SECOND DAY.

MUNICIPAL TOPICS DISCUSSED AT TODAY'S MEETING IN MONTGOMERY.

Montgomery, Ala., May 9—There was an increased attendance this morning when the League of Municipalities of Alabama began the second day of its annual convention. During the day the following papers were presented and discussed: "Street Paving and Paving Material," D. W.
Ford, Montgomery; "Local Assessments for Public Improvements," Mayor W. M. Drennen of Birmingham; "High License as the First Step Towards the Dispensary," Mayor C.
F. Stewart of Attalla; "The Building of a Sewer System by Local Assessments," Mayor H. A. Skeggs of Decatur.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE DISCUSSES POLITICAL SITUATION IN NEW YORK.

Cambridge, Mass., May 9—The delegates to the National Municipal League convention held their sessions today at Harvard at the special invitation of the university. The principal subjects of discussion were the political situations in New York City and Pittsburgh, the speakers including Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; former District Attorney Philbin of New York and Prof.
J. H. Beale of Harvard. At the conclusion of the session, which was presided over by President Elliot, the visitors were entertained at luncheon by the faculty of the university.

excellent scores were made in the preliminary events this morning.

THE SKIPPING DICK.

MADE A QUICK RUN FROM CAIRO YESTERDAY.

The Dick Fowler made a quick run yesterday from Cairo to Paducah with the Cairoites who came to attend the Viola Allen performance. She made the trip in three hours and forty minutes, making six landings and arriving here 7:30 p. m.

Those who were in the party were:
J. F. Hartley, Miss Anna Howard, Miss Josie Halliday, Mrs. M. Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Clark, Mr. and Mrs.
John W. C. Fry, Mr. Byron Ellis, Editor C. M. Ellis, Mrs. C. H.

RURAL ROUTES.

MAN TO BE SENT HERE SHORT-LY TO INVESTIGATE THEM.

Postmaster Fisher has received a telegram from Congressman Charles K. Wheeler saying that the government will send a man here in a few days to look up the rural free delivery mail in this county. Several months ago one route was recommended and a carrier appointed, but for some reason it has been hanging fire in the department, and it seems hard to get anything done. It is supposed that McCracken will now get her dues, however, and the new route and the two proposed ones soon be established.

OHIO ORATORICAL CONTESTS.

Ottawa, O., May 9—The presence of large delegations of young students is evidence of the interest manifested in the oratorical contest of the high schools of Northwestern Ohio, which takes place here this evening. The contestants will include the chosen orators from Lima, Van Wert, Kenton, Findlay, Tiffin, Columbus Grove, Fostoria and other leading cities and towns of this section of the state.

Contagious Blood Poison

Is the name sometimes given to what is generally known as the BAD DIS-EASE. It is not confined to dens of vice or the lower classes. The purest and best people are sometimes infected with this awful malady through handling the clothing, drinking from the same vessels, using the same toilet articles, or otherwise coming in contact with persons who have contracted it.

It begins usually with a little blister or sore, then swelling in the groins, a red eruption breaks out on the body, sores and ulcers appear in the mouth, the throat becomes ulcerated, the hair, eye brows and lashes fall out; the blood becoming more contaminated, copper colored spotches and pustular eruptions and sores appear upon different parts of the body, and the poison even destroys the bones.

S. S. S. is a Specific for this loathsome disease, and cures it even in the worst forms. It is a perfect antidote for the powerful virus that pollutes the blood and penetrates to all parts of the system.

Unless you get this poison out of your blood it will ruin you, and bring disgrace and disease upon your children, for it can be transmitted from parent to child. S. S. S. contains no mercury or potash, but is guaranteed a strictly vegetable compound.

Write for our free home treatment book and learn all about Contagious Blood Poison. If you want medical advice give us a history of your case, and our physicians will furnish all the information you wish without any charge whatever.

The Cowling took an excursion out of Metropolis and Brookport last night. The excursion was given by the Christian church people of Brookport and was well patronized.

The Dick Fowler came in about 7:30 o'clock last night from Cairo with the excursionists who came to attend the Viola Allen performance. She made a quick trip and left on her return today.

The steamer Avalon passed up from Memphis to Cincinnati this morning at 1 o'clock with a full cabin. The first clerk on the boat had to give up his room the pressure for cabin space was so great.

INSTRUCTION WAS AN ERROR.

The court of appeals has reversed the case of Rachel Davis against the Paducah Street Railway Co. from McCracken, in which the plaintiff sued for damages for injuries received by being trampled by other passengers. The court instructed the jury that damages could not be recovered on these grounds, and the appellate court holds these instructions to have been an error.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN.

A FAMILIAR FACE SEEN IN METROPOLIS THE OTHER DAY.

Albert Nelson was in Metropolis the other day soliciting orders for enlarging pictures. He proved to be an ex-convict who served three years at St. Joseph, Mo., for having thirteen wives. Soon after he left Metropolis one of his wives with her children arrived in search of him. He is a veteran of the civil war and draws a pension. When he went to the penitentiary she secured his pension papers and has since been trying to have the pension applied to the support of herself and child or at any rate compel him to provide for them. She stated Tuesday that she knew he had married twelve other women besides herself and she would not attempt to guess how many more.

Nelson looks to be about 60 years of age, is tall and slender, wears a light moustache and bad teeth.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

NOT DECIDED WHEN NEW INSTITUTION OPENS.

The directors of the Paducah Globe and Trust company met yesterday afternoon and elected the following officers, who had already been selected some time ago: E. W. Smith, president; C. E. Jennings, vice president; and H. H. Loving, cashier.

It is impossible to determine when the institution will open for business, but the president was instructed to have the work done as rapidly as possible and open up when the work of remodeling is complete. The second floor will be converted into offices.

BIG CLASS.

MANY KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO MEET IN LOUISVILLE SUNDAY.

There is to be a big initiation of Knights of Columbus at Louisville Sunday, and quite a number from Paducah will probably attend. Those from Paducah to go will be Messrs. John T. Donovan, A. W. Greif, and F. M. Fisher, and perhaps others. A large class is to be initiated, after which there will be the usual banquet. There are about ten members of the organization in Paducah.

Scene—The Alcazar, a Moorish castle, Palace of the King, Madrid.

The vast audience that witnessed Miss Viola Allen's "In the Palace of the King" at the Kentucky last night was convinced that Manager English had reserved one of his best attractions for the last. The house was practically sold out, and Miss Allen found her audience a most sympathetic and enthusiastic one.

"In the Palace of the King" is a romantic story that extends over only one day. It is both thrilling and appealing. One does not have to read the story to fully appreciate the play. The story, in fact, was elaborated from the play, although it was published first. It is powerfully dramatic, yet simple. As is well known, it is based on the love of Don John, of Austria, a brother of the king, for Dolores de Mendoza, daughter of the captain of the household guards, who reciprocates the love of the young soldier. He returns from war with the Moors covered with glory, and is the idol of the people, but the match is opposed by the king, who is aided in the conspiracy by scheming courtiers. Love finally triumphs after Don John has been condemned to death for the murder of the cardinal, who was stabbed by the king himself but fortunately did not die.

Miss Allen may be a trifle disappointing when she first makes her appearance but she grows on an audience, and her power and magnetism are not slow to assert themselves. She has a voice that is wonderful, and in the part of Dolores she has ample opportunity to test its versatility, intensity and power. She does this in a truly artistic manner. Her presence is magnetic, she is graceful, and her interpretation of the role is ideal. A more satisfactory lover would be difficult to find in the wide range of stage characters. Her changes from the dramatic, defiant, affectionate and imperious are quick and are achieved in a manner possible only to an artist.

While not the most beautiful woman on the American stage, she is fascinating and at all times animated and holds the attention of her audience at all times.

Miss Allen was ably supported. An old favorite in Paducah was Miss Adelaide Prince (Mrs. Creston Clarke) as Princess of Erbol, one of the intriguers of the kings court. The character requires talent of a high order, and Miss Prince was found to have lost none of her ability to charm with her clever work and engaging personality.

Mr. Ebon Plympton, as the King of Spain, is an actor of unusual ability, and his portrayal of the part was such as to evoke many expressions of admiration and wonder. He is every inch an actor, and his superior has seldom been seen on the local stage.

Mr. William Pascoe, as Don John, was equally as pleasing, and combines with a handsome face and a graceful presence, a splendid voice and the soul of the true artist.

Mr. Arthur Hoyt as the court fool was excellent, and his work was as pleasing as that of Mr. William Norris as the jester in "Francesca De Rimini."

Mr. J. H. Benrimo, captain of the guards, gave a pleasing portrayal of the loyal, selfish, unrelenting officer who considers the wish of the king, and his own favor at court, above the happiness of his daughter. His work requires the finished touch of the real actor, and this was pleasingly given by him.

Miss Allen's support was faultless. There was not a weak character in the cast. The others were all fine in their respective parts, which were not so prominent as those above. The play has six acts, but it never drags, and the audience would have doubtless gladly remained another six. Miss Allen and her company received many curtain calls, and the enthusiasm shown was not surpassed by that at any attraction this season.

Manager J. E. English is all ready for the opening of The Kentucky for the summer season next Monday night in a "The Savage from Japan." The final rehearsal will take place Saturday.

Mrs. Belle Gaffney Bennett, a character actress, was one of the passengers on the Dick Fowler last night. She formerly lived in Cairo and was there on a visit when she decided to come to the Viola Allen performance.

Manager English has gotten out handsome "Heralds" of his stock company containing half-tone cuts of the members. He also has photographs framed and placed in several of the downtown stores.

Mr. A. S. Terrell, who left here as treasurer of the Buckskin Bill show has returned to the city and may not rejoin the show, which is today at Owensboro.

Ellery's Italian band arrived at noon and will give two more of its fine concerts at The Kentucky, ending the regular season.

MEET MONDAY.

CHAIRMAN EMERY AND DISTRICT CHAIRMAN TO MEET.

Chairman Charles Emery of the Democratic county committee, is in receipt of a letter from District Chairman Mott Ayers, of Fulton, asking for a meeting here at the Palmer house Monday forenoon. The object is not stated, but it is supposed to be for the purpose of selecting the officers for the congressional primary.

TRI-COUNTY EDUCATORS.

Grafton, N. D., May 9.—There was a large attendance today at the opening of the annual meeting of the Tri-County Educational Association. The sessions continue two days. Topics ranging from kindergarten instruction to secondary education are scheduled for discussion during the two days' sessions. This evening Colonel L. F. Copeland will lecture, and after the lecture the visiting teachers will be given a reception by the teachers of the local schools.

ON WHOM THE BURDEN FALLS.

The Republicans have in the past advocated judicious economy in the administration of local affairs. They made the race for office on that principle, but the people, seemingly, were satisfied with the extravagance that was daily placing a heavier burden on them with few apparent returns, and now they are beginning to reap the reward of their errors.

The poor people, especially, are beginning to feel the iron heel of the oppressor. In a few weeks they will fully appreciate what the recent tax rate means to them. They may think the burdens will fall on the shoulders of the rich, but in this they are mistaken. It will fall on them, and they are less able to bear it.

A wealthy property owner in the city, who owns and rents out perhaps a hundred small dwellings to the poorer class of people, has served notice on his tenants, it is understood, that beginning June 1st they must pay $2.50 a month more rent. Those who rent $10 houses will have to pay $12.50 or move. Many are already paying all they can afford, and have a hard time doing it. They will have to stand the raise or move, and if they move they do not know where they can go. From what can be learned, a majority of the property owners, as a result of the $1.85 tax rate, are going to raise rents to recover their losses.
This throws much of the burden of increased taxes on the poor people. It compels a man to take money from his family to reimburse the landlord, who is being skinned by men in office to carry on their ruthless extravagance. He perhaps has to deprive his wife and little ones of food and clothing, in order to feed the capacious maw of this monster, municipal extravagance. The money eked from him is taken to increase the salaries of men who have private snaps, for gravel that is unfit for use, and improvements that fail to improve. There is never much to show for the $100,000 and over that has been wasted year after year in Paducah in municipal government. If there is, let any intelligent man sit down and try to study it out.

He will be utterly unable to discover any justification of the outrageous expenditures that have been characteristic of every Democratic administration in Paducah. During the Republican administration we had just as good a government as we have now.
As a whole, the police and fire protection was just as good as now, the streets were better, the officers as good and efficient as at any other time, a sewerage system was built, and the tax rate was $1.20 one year and $1.60 the next. The difference is that one administration economized, and the Democrats never do. The public funds go to the favorites of the administration. Men unfit for public service are often put in offices of emolument and trust, and those who have worked for the election of the gang get the most remunerative contracts, whether they are competent to fulfill them or not.

In this way, year after year, the money has been wasted, until today we find the city $80,000 or more in debt, and with a tax rate of $1.85, which it is claimed will fail by $26,- 000 to pay the city out. The increase in taxes is going to cost the poor man an increase in rent, and leave him less to spend for comforts and necessities of life. Most of the burden is going to fall on him. If he has voted to put the men who are responsible for this in office, and has any common sense, he will never do it again. He will at least give the other fellows a trial, and see if they do any worse. The voter is not going to submit to such extravagance for the benefit of a few office-holders and their henchmen, and if recent developments in municipal government do not forever damn the Democratic clique in Paducah, nothing can.

Paducah continues to grow slowly but surely, and our improvements and conveniences should grow in proportion. We have a number of fine buildings already, with the assurance of several others in the near future. We need progressive men in public boards, and until we get them, we need never expect to take on city ways. It is understood the Town Cow question is to be brought up again. It ought to be settled in but one way—require cow owners to keep the cows on their own premises, as they do their other "valuables." This would deprive no one of the privilege of keeping a cow. It would simply afford protection to the thousands of people who do not keep cows, and have a right to be saved the depredations of the animals. It would be absurd for the members of the council to contend that a majority of the people of Paducah own cows, and are in favor of allowing them to roam the streets. A large majority of them do not own cows, and do not want to own them. The council is supposed to legislate for the greatest good to the greatest number, and there is no reason why a few should be permitted to make a farm yard of the city and pastures of the private yards of helpless citizens.

It seems that City Attorney Worten has made a bauble of the council salary question. If he has, it would be much better for him to come forward and candidly admit that he was wrong, and that the councilmen have no right to draw a salary for called meetings, instead of sticking to it and allowing them to continue to raid the treasury. There are two references made in the state law to the salary of officers. One is that the salary of no officer shall be changed, and the other that the "compensation" shall not be changed. This covers all money paid to all officers for all services rendered.
There is nothing that can go behind the constitution of Kentucky which says that the compensation of no officer shall be changed during his term of office. It is above charters and everything else, and as the members of the city council were elected under a law that paid them only $3 for every regular meeting and nothing for called meetings, to allow them to draw $3 for called meetings now is certainly changing the compensation during their term of office. If there is another attorney in the city who thinks the members can legally draw money for called meetings, he has not been found.

A few people are occasionally heard to complain because The Sun is fighting the town cow. We regret to displease these people, but we are unequivocally in favor of having the animals kept up and feel that the sentiment of the best classes is with us. It is unreasonable for people to expect a newspaper to advocate the running at large of live stock in the second city in size and importance in Kentucky. Cows do not look well in public in a city like this and are an imposition on the people. The Sun has never attempted to prevent any man from keeping as many cows as he desires, provided he keeps them where they belong. The fight against the cow is in the interest of the greatest number.

A city has as much right to tax the people for keeping the streets wet and free from dust as it has to tax them for keeping the streets supplied with inferior gravel. Both are for the benefit of the public, not necessarily for any particular individual. The sprinkling is done in other cities for about $30 a thousand feet for the season. A thousand feet is about three blocks which would make the cost about $10 a block, and divided into lots would make the cost comparatively light. The general council should thoroughly investigate the cost and the advantages of sprinkling before it acts finally on the ordinance.

If the weather does not get so hot and the streets do not get so dusty in Paducah as in other places, we can doubtless get along without street sprinkling. But if other cities find it advisable and can afford it, Paducah can. It's up to the council.

General Miles appears to be in his dotage. To refuse to act as a pall-bearer at the funeral of Admiral Sampson shows a very narrow, vindictive spirit, and one totally unworthy to be found in the lieutenant commander of the United States army.

The people should not be deceived by the balance of about $3,000 reported when the treasurer recently retired. The balance was what was left out of seven thousands of dollars borrowed by the city since January 1.

The carnival is only three days off.
Are you ready for it?

We may get rid of the cow after all.

NEWS NOTES.

The special grand jury last night at Lexington, Ky., returned thirty-six indictments in the investment company cases. All the accused are prominent people. Among them is the Rev. J. H. Baker.

Captain Jo Desha, a Confederate veteran, died last night at Cynthiana, aged 68 years. He was a member of the well known family of his name.
He was a widely known and distinguished citizen.

Mrs. Mary Green has been indicted at Danville for leaving a child exposed to the weather. A child left on a door step March 29 is said to be hers. The accused is prominent.

Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist, was shot and killed by his brother, Malcom Ford, who then killed himself. The slayer was thought to have been crazy.

General Miles has refused to act as pallbearer for Admiral Sampson.
The fact is causing comment pro and con.

WANTED HER BADLY.

HOW A GRAVES COUNTY MAN GOT MARRIED THE OTHER DAY.

Elmer Guthrie aged 20 and Miss Flora Hunter aged 14, of near Veals-burg, a small place in Graves county, decided they wanted to marry. They decided it last Tuesday and although the girl had no shoes and wore short dresses, they were confident they could be happy.

When a friend, while the father was away, was sent for the bride, her mother threatened to kill him, and he was bluffed. It tickled her so much that she had to call on the nearest neighbor and tell about it, and while she was gone the friend of the groom stole away the girl and they drove to Mayfield, caught a train for Paducah, and leaving here at noon were married at Metropolis that afternoon by Justice Liggett. The bride was provided with clothes and shoes by friends before they left Mayfield.

Forty-Seventh Annual Meeting of the Medical Society Over.

Officers Elected Today and Louisville Chosen as the Next Meeting—Changes in Constitution.

MOST OF THE DELEGATES GONE

The 47th annual convention of the Kentucky State Medical Society adjournd this morning at 10:30 o'clock after a session of three days. The meeting convened Wednesday morning and continued until this morning and had been voted the most successful meeting ever held.

The total attendance of the society during the three days reached to about 300. Most of the physicians left last night after the big reception but this morning the room was well filled when the last day's session was called.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The first business brought up this morning was the election of officers as follows:

President, W. W. Richmond of Clinton; first vice president, C. C.
Lewis of Owensboro; second vice president, J. E. Wells, Cynthiana; permanent secretary and treasurer, Steele Bailey of Stanford; librarian, Frank L. Lapsley of Paris. The association meets next year in Louisville.

The report of the committee appointed to revise the present constitution was offered and accepted. One change made in the constitution is to make it conform to the constitution of the American society in order to bring all the county, district and state societies in closer touch with each other and to make it possible for a member of the minor societies to become a member of the American society, something not possible heretofore.
It is thought this will increase the state membership from 500 to 3,000, there being about 3,600 doctors in Kentucky.

Another change made was in the providing for a house of delegates to be appointed one from each county represented in the state association, to transact the business of the association. This will leave the association free to devote its annual meetings to the scientific work.

A rule has been adopted making Louisville the meeting place of the association every alternate year, and as a result of this, Louisville became the place of the next meeting.

Besides the above business only two papers were read, "Paralytic Dementia" was fully discussed in a paper by Dr. George R. Rau, of Louisville and
"Continued Fevers of Southwestern Kentucky" was fully set out and illustrated in the papers by Dr. Horace Rivers of the city. Both papers were excellent and the doctors received many compliments on them.

There were several other papers on the program, but they were not read.
The following resolution was presented by Dr. McCormack of Bowling Green, and adopted by the society by a rising vote:

"Resolved, That the cordial thanks of this association be and is hereby tendered to each and every member of the Southwestern Kentucky Medical society; to the committee on arrangements, especially to Dr. J. T.
Reddick, chairman of the committee on entertainment, and to the fair women and brave men of Paducah for their unremitting and eminently successful efforts for the comfort and entertainment of this body; to the railroads for their reduced rates and to the newspapers for the very full and impartial reports they have of our proceedings."

Last night the most successful reception ever given in Paducah was tendered the visiting doctors at the Palmer house and it lasted until the small hours of morning. Society was out in force and the dancing lasted from early in the evening until 2 o'clock. It is considered the jolliest and most successful reception ever

COUNCILMAN FOWLER SAYS HE WILL INTRODUCE ONE.

Councilman J. H. Fowler stated this morning that he will at the next meeting of the council introduce an ordinance compelling people to keep their cows up. The measure will be similar to the one defeated some time ago, but Councilman Fowler is confident that this time it will go through with less opposition than it had before.

GOOD PERFORMANCE

The La Belle Park Theater Had a Small Crowd Last Night.

"My Uncle From Japan" Produced in a Most Creditable Manner.

The La Belle Park Stock company produced the farce-comedy, "My Uncle from Japan" last night to a small but appreciative crowd. The play was well cast, and each member did well.

Mr. Charles Middleton won more than his usual applause as "Captain Robert Racket," Mr. C. H. Carleton did clever character work as "Obediah Dawson;" Mr. Walter Harmon sustained his good impression made the previous night in "Timothy Tolman," and Mr. and Mrs. Grace both did fine work in character parts. Miss Hazelton, the leading lady, was seen to excellent advantage as "Clarice," and Mr. Montrose Howard (Mart Beatty) as "Mr. Dolroy" and Mrs. Howard as "Katy" won deserved applause. Mrs. Howard in a singing specialty won several encores.

Prof. Record made a successful ride down the ladder into the cyclone whirl.

NO ORDERS GO.

MAYOR YEISER TODAY NOTIFYING HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.

Mayor Yeiser is today notifying the heads of the different departments in the city service that orders on pay vouchers of city employees will not be accepted hereafter. This rule was adopted on the recommendation of Auditor Kirkland at the last meeting of the council.

METHODS OF TRADE IN ABYSSINIA.

Commerce Carried on in a Very Primitive Manner.

The market for the gold-producing region of Abyssinia is at Nedjo. Gold washers bring the metal in dust and nuggets from all corners of the country, pressed into large quills closed with a morsel of wood. The holders are so transparent that the precious powder is as easily visible as though it were a tube of glass. The washer sells the produce to a broker, who works it into circles of pure gold of about the thickness of a heavy finger ring. These circles are not closed, so that the buyer may twist them before weighing, thus assuring himself, upon finding them malleable, that no copper has been mixed with the pure metal. The brokers sit bent over, in long files, with their small scales in their hands.

A kind of cotton goods manufactured in the United States, which is called "aboudjedide" and bears the mark of a camel, serves in country districts of Abyssinia as money, being used for clothing, tents and many other purposes. A piece of this material thirty yards long, the average price of which is $2, generally sold to retail dealers in lots of twenty pieces, is a token by which Abyssinian coffee is purchased in the regions of production. The change in the price of American cottons has obliged the wholesale merchants to increase in Abyssinia, as elsewhere, the price of a bale of this material serving as money. Immediately the price of coffee rose at the five centers of production, but when the native farmers reached Harrar, the commercial center of the country, expecting to sell their coffee at the higher price imposed by the increased value of American cottons, they found themselves face to face with the falling prices which beset all the coffee markets in the world. This caused much hardship.

DAMASCUS AND FIFTY CENTURIES.

Certainly the Most Ancient Center of Trade in the World.

The most ancient center of trade in the world, and one which still retains its mercantile current, is Damascus. The caravan comes and goes as it did 1,000 years ago; there the sheik, the ass and the water wheel, the merchants of the Euphrates and of the Mediterranean still occupy with the multitude of their wares. From Damascus comes the damson, blue plum, and the delicious apricot of Portugal; Damascus damask, the beautiful fabric of cotton and silk, with vines and flowers raised upon a smooth, bright ground; the damask rose, introduced into England in the time of Henry VII.; the Damascus blade so famous the world over for its keen edge and wonderful elasticity, the secret of whose manufacture was lost when Tamerlane carried off the arts into Persia; and that beautiful art of wood and steel with silver and gold—a kind of mosaic engraving and sculpture united—called damasceening, with which boxes, bureaus, swords and guns are ornamented. Damascus remains what it was before the days of Abraham—a center of trade and travel, an island of verdure in the desert, a presidential capital through more than thirty centuries. It was near Damascus that Saul of Tarsus saw the light of heaven above the light of the sun; and the street which he called straight, in which it is said he prayed, still runs through the city. The city which Mohammed surveyed from a neighboring height and was afraid to enter because it was given to men to have but one Paradise, and for his part, he was resolved not to have his in this world.—Reform Advocate.

DOG FINDS BABY IN THE WOODS.

St. Bernard Carries Half-Frozen Infant to His Kennel.

Nero, a full-blooded St. Bernard dog belonging to John Oliver, a farmer of Gates, attracted the attention of his master yesterday morning by his peculiar actions. The animal would rush to the door, whine and paw the panels until some one came out, and then rush off to his kennel.

After repeating this performance some time he was followed to the dog house, where an investigation revealed a half-frozen infant, scantily dressed and almost buried in the straw. The baby was hastily carried into the house and medical aid summoned, while Nero showed his joy at being understood by uttering short barks and running around his master.

Upon further investigation tracks in the deep snow were discovered showing that the dog, true to his early training in the Alps, had half carried, half dragged the baby across fields from the woods nearly a mile distant, where the infant either was lost or had been abandoned. An old blanket and some infant clothing that had slipped off when Nero attempted to carry the baby home showed where the child had lain in the snow. It is feared the baby will die from the effects of its terrible exposure despite the brave efforts of the dog to save its life.—New York Sun.

MARK TWAIN AND HIS "ENGINE"

Calque Method of Propulsion on the Mississippi River.

Captain Thomas Bixby, under whom Samuel L. Clemens—Mark Twain—served as pilot and engineer on the old Mississippi river boat, Swallow, has given in a New Orleans paper the following description of the engine of the Swallow:

"The craft was a little, shabby affair, which plied between St. Louis and Cairo. It had a stern wheel, a place for freight and passengers, a pilot house and a place on what may be called the pilot deck for the engine.

"That 'engine' went aboard when it was needed, and only then. It burned no wood or coal, but ate a powerful sight of grass. It was a large gray mule named Jerry, which worked a treadmill that propelled the boat. Samuel Clemens was chief engineer and pilot.

"He had a system of signals which was effective and ingenious. By pulling a cord he could raise a head of cabbage just out of reach of the mule. The 'engine' would start and begin to walk after it, and the boat floated majestically down or up the river, as the case might be.

"Without desiring to be personal, I will say that Jerry was one of the most intelligent animals I ever met. His voice was more on the order of a fog horn than a whistle, being too much of a barytone for the latter. When Samuel wanted to whistle for a landing he just hit Jerry with a stick." —Youth's Companion.

SUN'S DAILY STORY

PIETRO'S DAUGHTER.

BY JOHN NELSON.

(Copyright, 1902, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Pietro was a familiar figure in the Planet editorial rooms, and the men, the old men, that is, had begun to look upon him as something of a nuisance. The new men, those just out of college and breaking in on little assignments, thought him an interesting character and often forgot the city editor's injunction "not to encourage the Dago." Pietro was useful in his way, though, for he sometimes brought in bits of news from the Italian quarter that could be worked up into Sunday stories, and when the triple murder took place on Robert street two years ago it was Pietro who put Johnson, the police man, on to the hiding place of the murderer. It was a big beat for the planet and Johnson got his salary raised and a compliment from the "old man" at the same time. Of course, Johnson made it all right with Pietro and kept him on to the source of his information.

But Pietro was beginning to be a bother in the city room, coming in at all hours of the day and night with some piece of information about the advent of a new baby, or the finding of a whole dress in the rag barrel; things in which the Planet readers were not at all interested. In the summer Pietro ground a hurdy-gurdy and in winter kept a chestnut stand just around the corner from the newspaper offices, and no reporter known to the Italian ever failed to stop, and help himself when he passed the stand. Pietro's hurdy-gurdy was an inharmonious machine that had long since passed its prime, but he ground it every day in pleasant weather and the children in the courts danced to its tiny notes.

Some days Pietro was accompanied by his daughter. She played the tambourine and collected the pennies with a business-like air. She wasn't pretty, except in her eyes and hair. They were jet black and sparkled when she moved or spoke. She seemed about 15 years old, but like all Italian children, dressed as though she were 40. She was childish in her manners, however, and not altogether unattractive.

When she began coming into the Planet office with her father, even the city editor forgot to be gruff, for there was something instinctively gentle in the girl's manner of speaking. Her mother was dead, Pietro had told us, and the girl was his only companion. He seemed to think a great deal of her, and always smiled when one of the men complimented her. The reporters began to watch for her coming and whenever a tambourine accompaniment was heard to Pietro's hurdy-gurdy, at least one of us would take the trouble to go down stairs and give the couple a coin. No one ever knew what the girl did in winter while her father attended his chestnut stand, and in fact, no one ever had occasion to ask.

One day toward the end of summer Pietro came in, smiling. He had some news, he said. Angelica, his daughter, had a suitor; a certain Giacomo, who owned a horse and wagon and did a thriving business in the fruit line. Pietro was enthusiastic about his future son-in-law.

"He good man," he said. "Maka plenty de mon." Gotta de hoss an' wagon, an' say he taka me in de biz' witha heem. Maka plenty de mon, sella de banan'. Angelica, she lika heem much. Dey git marry. Si!"

Of course, the staff individually and collectively, congratulated him on his prospects, and Hill, the youngest man on the force, who had picked up some coarse Italian at his father's commission house, added a phrase, which seemed to please Pietro very much, but which had an unpleasant sound to the rest of us. The delighted old man promised to bring Giacomo in to see us soon, and to fetch Angelica, too.

Pietro was a familiar figure in the Planet editorial rooms.

that she might be congratulated in person.

True to his promise, the prospective bride and groom were brought in next day by the father, just as the men were assembling for their afternoon work, and the congratulations were done all over again. Giacomo was a strapping, low-browed man, with a rather sheepish smile. He spoke English comparatively well, having been born in America, and the son of affluent rag pickers, who had allowed him to go to school as often as he wished for nearly two years. Angelica, that afternoon wore her best clothes and looked almost pretty. Pietro had left his hurdy-gurdy at home and wore new gold rings in his ears. They were making a gala day of it.

Hill felt himself called upon to do the honors of the office, and as he was only a "cub," the fellows let him alone. He talked to Angelica in the language he thought to be Italian, and she must have understood part of what he said, for she blushed occasionally. Giacomo understood, too, for he scowled once or twice at some rather pointed remark of Hill's.

The trio made the visit short that day, but Angelica and Pietro came in often now to report the progress of the courting. The marriage was not to take place until the music season was over, and naturally, the bans would not be published in the little Italian church until just before the wedding day. At each of the visits Hill, who never had much of importance to do, made himself agreeable to the girl, and she smiled sweetly upon him. Giacomo sometimes accompanied the party, and usually he had nothing to say except to answer questions. He seemed to dislike Hill, but was always courteous, as is every Italian who, if he cuts your throat, will do it politely. We chaffed Hill occasionally about the girl, and told him to watch out that the lover didn't sink a stiletto into him some day.

"It's good practice to talk to the girl," he would say. "and as for Giacomo, a cigar will make him all right. I know the class."

Summer finally passed into autumn and the day came for the bans to be published. Hill, with his knowledge of

"De man dead, too," said Pietro. "the class," had spent fifty cents on a gaudy ornament for the girl and had also supplied himself with some big cigars for Giacomo, and when they came in for their usual call, he presented the gifts with a speech in his villainous Italian. Angelica received hers with a pleasant smile and a "Grazie, signor," and Giacomo took his cigars in silence. Hill smiled and said afterwards he'd bet he'd be called upon to attend the first christening in the new family.

On toward 11 o'clock that night, when half the force was at work on evening copy, and the copy readers were swearing over some bad work, Pietro came up the stairs and into the room. His familiar, rather quick step, had given place to a tired sort of tramp, and he looked unusually old when he came into the full light of the room. He walked straight over to the desk of the city editor and stood with his hat in his hands. The city editor looked up.

"Well, what is it?" he asked. "Man killa de girl," said the Italian. "Don on Rob' street. Sticka de knife in her."

"All right," said the city editor. "I'll send Johnson down when he comes in," and adding a perfunctory "thank you," he turned to his work again.

"De man dead, too," said Pietro after a moment's silence.

"That's all right. Run along now, I'm busy." The city editor began to frown, and Pietro turned away. As he passed Hill's desk he laid a little package on it.

"Angelica sent it back," he said, simply, and then went slowly down the stairs. Hill opened the package and found in it the little ornament he had given the girl that afternoon. There was a tiny red stain on it, but Hill was too busy then to do more than wonder.

The next morning the Planet had on its front page a big scare head, like this:

DOUBLE MURDER!

Jealous Italian Knives His Sweetheart. Father of the Victim Slays the Assassin and Gives Himself Up!

All on Account of a Present.

Two days later Hill borrowed $5, and the man who went to write up the funeral noticed a great bunch of white roses on the coffin.

IF Gossip Was Gas We Would Have Cheap Fuel

HART SAYS THIS here Fuel what is burnt in his oil and gasoline stoves is the cheapest.

OUR OIL STOVES are wickless, entirely automatic; the asbestos starting device. Saves much time and annoyance in lighting; burners cannot overflow; they are clean and odorless; nickel trimmed hands, nicely finished.

THE OPERATION of a Gasoline Stove is all with the burner. "Good burner, good stove." Hart knows a good burner and all his stoves are made with the best burner to be had, hence they do good work without the trouble usually had with gasoline stoves.

THE COURTS.

Small Docket in the Police Tribunal
This Morning.

Judge Lightfoot to Start New Wrinkle—Notes in the Circuit Court.

POLICE COURT.

John Mack, white, who refused to pay his fare on a Rowlandtown street car yesterday, was arraigned before Judge Sanders this morning and the case continued until tomorrow.

The case against Clint Chiles, white, for the alleged theft of a small row boat, was left open.

John Crompton, white, was fined $5 and costs for sleeping in a box car.

Allie Tidwell, J. H. Ivey, Vera Conley and Ed Hendricks were fined $20 and costs each for immorality.

An old warrant against Silas Sledge, colored, for disorderly conduct was filed away.

COUNTY COURT.

Judge Lightfoot will this week appoint three commissioners, offices of the county that are legally provided for but which have never been made.

The appointments will come as a surprise to the public as many do not know that any such offices are ever made. The duty of these officers will be to divide lands and settle disputes relative to the same in the county.

J. C. Sellers has been appointed the administrator of the estate of Nina Futrell.

Mrs. P. J. Roberts has been appointed the administrator of the estate of J.
D. Roberts, Jr.

Mary E. Murrell and others deed to W. A. Mooney for $150, property near Fourth and Monroe streets.

James R. Denny deeds to J. M.
Gray for $580, property in the county.

H. P. Nunn deeds to Johanna Stucks for $1,800, property near Twelfth and Monroe streets.

CIRCUIT COURT.

In the case of Electra Griffin against the Louisville Press Co., the defendant's motion as to the jurisdiction of the court was overruled and the case will be tried in this court.

In the case of Meyer Bros. Drug Co. against John Van Culin, in which a judgment was filed yesterday for $150 the defense moved and gave reasons for a new trial.

Today the court has been busy with the damage suit of John A. Hills against the Paducah Veneer and Lumber Co. The case was going to the jury at press time.

Peremptory instructions to find for the defendant were given in the case of Charles Hill against the Paducah Veneer and Lumber Co. for $5,000 damages, in circuit court yesterday afternoon. The boy had an arm cut off while working in the defendant's plant.

TO LOCATE HERE.

REPORTED THE JOPPA HANDLE FACTORY IS TO COME TO PADUCAH.

The Metropolis papers state that the handle factory located about a year ago at Joppa, Ill., is to be moved to Paducah in the near future. Nothing definite is known of it here, however.

made a wound scarcely an inch lower than the one that killed his brother.
In fact the wounds were almost identical.

The cause of the shooting could only be surmised. It appears that Malcolm Ford called to get money from his brother, and meeting with a refusal, shot him. Dr. Barnum said that the murder was a result of temporary mental aberration on the part of Malcolm Ford, due to nervous exhaustion.
It is said that there was an enmity between the two brothers and consequent bitterness and that it was of eleven years standing and that never since the death of their father have they been on intimate terms. This alleged enmity on the part of Malcolm is said to have been brought about by the fact that the father of boys disinherited Malcolm, and this action on the father's part was because he did not wish Malcolm to devote himself to an athletic career.

Paul Leicester Ford was 37 years old, a novelist of much note, "Janice Meredith" being perhaps his most popular novel. He was married about a year ago to Miss Grace Kidder, a daughter of Edward H. Kidder of Brooklyn. He was the son of Gordon Leicester Ford of Brooklyn who died eleven years ago and left an estate of some $2,000,000 divided between his children, with the exception of Malcolm W., who was disinherited by the will.

Mr. Ford is the author of "The Hon. Peter Stirling," "The Great K. and A. Train Robbery," "The True George Washington," "The Many-Sided Franklin," which ran serially in the Century, "Tattle Tales of Cupid," "Janice Meredith," which ran serially in the Bookman in 1899, and a collection of short stories.

Malcolm W. Ford was born in Brooklyn, February 7, 1862. He was educated at the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. He married a daughter of Robert Graves, a wall paper manufacturer, but they were divorced. He was a member of the Lawyers' club.

KIRKPATRICK NOMINATED.

ONLY NINE AT THE DISTRICT CONVENTION HERE TODAY.

There were nine Prohibitionists at the district convention at the court house this afternoon in answer to the call for delegates to nominate a candidate for congress.

Louis Hancock was made chairman and Dr. J. D. Smith secretary.

Rev. J. D. Kirkpatrick, of Smith-land, Ky., was made the Prohibition candidate for congress in this district.

NOTHING NEW.

KNIGHTS OF THE GOLDEN
HORSESHOE IS INCOR-PORATED.

Mr. W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., is in receipt of a telegram from Richmond, Va., stating that the Knights of the Golden Horseshoe is incorporated in Virginia, but further than this nothing has been heard relative to it. This evening a meeting of members of the order is to be held at the court house.
